Climate change, which cause lots of effects on earth, is a popular issue these days.Many countries may suffer from it and this is not a personal problem. The main reasons of climate change are combustion and deforestation.

First, climate change is caused by combustion. In many factories, various combustion can occur. Generally, coal, petroleum, and fossil fuels would be ingredients of combustion.Once these ingredients used on burning, much of carbon dioxide(CO2) emit into the air. CO2 can heat the atmosphere and create abnormal substances such as green gas, aerosol. Also huge amount of CO2 can trigger global warming, which is very dangerous nowadays.

Second, climate change is caused by deforestation. Since the 4th industrial revolution era, many forests and eco-systems have been vanished and collasped because of deforestation.Deforestation, which is cutting trees and destroying eco-systems, may not good on nature part. Cutting down the trees can increase more CO2 and reduce oxygen.This can lead to desertification and the change of land usage affects physical and biological properties on earth's surface.

Despite of two reasons, people can overcome the problems. Peopleshould use solar electric energy to prevent combustion.This type of energy is made with sun, which is natural energy not an artificial energy. If the solar energy becomes our lives, the enormous emission of CO2 would not be exist.To solve the deforestation is to make a artificial forest. Artificial forest can be anywhere. It can be a house, city, etc. People can create his/her own forest with natural resources such as trees, grass, and even animals.
